BML uses state of the art technologies such as FISH, a vast library of IHC stains, and Molecular Diagnostics for the detection of disease states ranging from Barrett's Esophagus, colorectal cancer to H-pylori. Our quality standards include not only the highest level of technologies but also departmental reviews for all challenging cases to ensure the highest level of accuracy and consistency in results at no additional cost. Our level of expertise allows for the diagnosis of difficult cases where other laboratories may report an atypical diagnosis. BML plays a vital role in the healthcare community by offering a wide spectrum of testing to provide the definitive diagnosis that are relied on to stage and treat patients efficiently and in a timely manner.

The BML Difference Barrett's FISH Assay

Broward Medical Laboratory is proud to offer Barrett's Esophagus FISH Assay, a molecular test that looks at increased DNA instability, an event that precedes histological changes. By utilizing cytological brushings in addition to biopsies, a more complete tissue sampling is obtained, improving current surveillance techniques.
